

The gold standard in data protection for accountants, worldwide.

The Accounting Data Security Standard (ADSS) is a global accreditation reserved for accounting firms who uphold the highest standards of data security.

The ADSS is available to all Practice Protect customers who complete platform onboarding, system configuration and team training (all included within the cost of Practice Protect).

The ADSS accreditation is earned via a written test. Once passed, accreditation is granted and the ADSS logos may be used in email signatures, on your website and throughout your selling collateral.

